

Sink or Float

The Sink or Float app by DonkeySoft, Inc. is an interactive science app for young children. Toys, fruit, and other items are dropped into water and the player guesses whether the item will sink or float before watching the result. The child can play for fun or keep score as he progresses through the more than 120 different objects.

In addition to the game described above, the app has a “Sink or Float” drop. In the activity, the child can play at his own speed and drop objects into the water. The water can be drained by pulling the plug so all the water goes down the drain. Your child may play again by filling the water from the faucet. There are many opportunities in this app to learn new vocabulary while practicing the concepts of sink and float.
